TIMELESS WONDERS

Shrouded in mystery, steeped in legend, Wiltshire has been a special place for a very long time and our World Heritage Site pays testament to the ages. The ancient Britons believed Stonehenge was special, and if you stand on Salisbury Plain at sunrise or sunset it's easy to understand why, even today, people from around the world make the pilgrimage here.

At Avebury, a massive outer bank and ditch surround the world's largest stone circle which, in turn, encloses two smaller stone circles and part of the village. On a misty morning here you can appreciate the appeal this sacred place held for our ancestors.

The wider landscape is home to numerous other ancient structures including West Kennet Long Barrow, one of Britain's largest Stone Age burial sites, and Silbury Hill, the largest man-made mound in Europe.

Salisbury Cathedral is a magnificent example of Early English Gothic architecture and offers one superlative after another. The awesome sight of its spire soaring a breathtaking 123 metres (404 feet) into the air never fails to impress and within the Cathedral's Chapter House you'll find an exhibition showcasing the best preserved of only four original 1215 Magna Carta manuscripts. For an unforgettable experience, a Tower Tour leads you up narrow, winding staircases to the foot of the spire, 225 feet above ground where you can enjoy panoramic views.

Among Wiltshire's other iconic sights are its White Horses carved into the rolling chalk downs, eight of which can still be seen today.

So make 2017 the year you visit Wiltshire, and discover more about our Timeless Wonders with events such as ancient technology demonstrations at Stonehenge, an exhibition of sculpture by Ana Maria Pacheco at Salisbury Cathedral, and a Spooky Samhain trail at Avebury - go to visitwiltshire.co.uk/whats-on for details of these and many more.

TIMELESS PLACES

With archaeology collections of outstanding national importance, including treasured exhibits discovered at Avebury and Stonehenge, Wiltshire's museums are the perfect places to unearth the secrets of our journey through time. But history in Wiltshire is not only ancient – later civilisations have also left their mark, bequeathing tangible connections with the past, including impressive castles, medieval abbeys and charming almshouses.

Through the ages the drama and majesty of Wiltshire's landscape has offered the perfect backdrop for the homes of the privileged and wealthy. These magnificent residences frame stories that bring the history of England to life. What's more, they come complete with equally beautiful surroundings, from acres of landscaped parkland to intimate formal and informal gardens, making them the perfect places to step back in time whilst enjoying the present.

In centuries past, railways and canals were vital to Wiltshire's prosperity, as was the textile industry, and Wiltshire's industrial heritage can be experienced today at attractions and towns around the county. Wiltshire also has a proud history of links to the armed forces and we are delighted to announce that REME - museum of the Royal Electrical and Mechanical Engineers - is moving to Wiltshire and will open at Lyneham in 2017.

Wiltshire has many historic market towns and villages to discover, each with something unique on offer from stylish independent shops and colourful markets to tempting pubs and restaurants or great entertainment. The medieval city of Salisbury, with its magnificent cathedral, is the perfect fusion of ancient and modern.

Wiltshire is also rolling green downs and ancient woodlands. Parish churches and country inns. Timeless monuments and contemporary luxury. Local ales and picnics in the park.

In short, the England you love in one county.

AMESBURY

The home of Stonehenge, historic Amesbury is an interesting town sitting on the River Avon.

Recognized as the oldest continuous living settlement in the country, dating back over 8000 years BC, before Stonehenge.

Offering accommodation, local shops, restaurants and inns - the town is a great stopping point for travellers and visitors to Stonehenge and south Wiltshire. With plenty of parking, including coach spaces in the town centre.

Discover a breath taking museum housing one of Britain's largest mesolithic collections and the amazing story of how life was before and around Stonehenge.

The 13th century George Hotel houses an Aviation Heritage Centre - showing the story of the first use of planes by the Military in the area. Also, the Antrobus Arms Hotel, famous for The Beatles, who stayed there whilst filming Help on Salisbury Plain.

At Solstice Park you can see the mighty Ancestor sculpture, representing the earliest settlers in Amesbury around 10,000 years ago.

To the south of the town lies Archers Gate, named after the Amesbury Archer who was found nearby. A sculpture depicting the Archer stands in the arcade there and an incredible town mosaic can be seen, telling the story of Amesbury.

The town offers many interesting walks both in the Stonehenge Landscape and close to the River Avon. There is a 2 mile walk to Stonehenge from Amesbury across the historic landscape, which is both invigorating and interesting.

To the north is Woodhenge - a neolithic site, which is an equally interesting site to visit. Closer to the town is Lords Walk which gives you a unique view of the River Avon as well as a nature walk down the old Lime Tree way.

Guides to these walks and other information can be found in the Community & Visitor Centre, in the town centre.

The 10th century church of St Mary and St Melor houses a 15th century clock that is believed to have been built for the Benedictine Abbey. Also, crusader crosses, royal floor tiles and see the story of Queen Eleanor of Provence, who was given a royal funeral in Amesbury in 1291.

CRICKLADE

'The First Town on the Thames'. An ancient Saxon town on the edge of the Cotswolds, with over 100 listed buildings, an important site from the time of Alfred the Great. From 979 to 1100 the town had its own mint and a few coins can be seen in the Cricklade museum. Cricklade, granted a charter in 1155, has a Manorial Court with High Bailiff, Town Crier and other historical posts.

For people who enjoy nature the North Meadow is a Site of Special Scientific Interest and in April the rare Snakehead Fritillaries can be seen. Blakehill Farm (originally a Second World War airfield) is now a nature reserve managed by Wiltshire Wildlife Trust, and of course the famous Thames Path meanders through the town.

The annual festivals in June and December and a range of facilities on the historic High Street offer interest and a welcome to visitors.

TIMELESS NATURE

What view did you wake up to this morning? It's not a personal question. But from time to time we all need a change of scenery. So head to Wiltshire, where almost half our breathtaking landscape has been designated an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty: rural England at its very best.

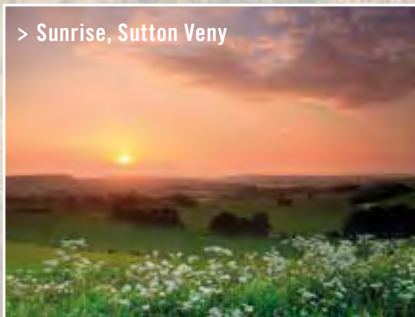

Parts of north and west Wiltshire lie within the Cotswolds, where honey-coloured villages meld seamlessly into rolling hills. Acres of ancient woodland can be found in the Savernake Forest and on the borders of the New Forest National Park. Cranborne Chase and the West Wiltshire Downs stretch in a giant undulating swathe across the south of the county and are a nationally protected landscape, as are the North Wessex Downs, from the gentle meadows of the Pewsey Vale to more austere expanses of upland. And at the heart of the county lies the vast, untouched expanse of Salisbury Plain.

Easy to explore, yet off the beaten track, Wiltshire is one of Britain's best kept secrets. It's an enchanted place where you feel close to the earth and the ever-changing big skies. The landscape's mood alters with the seasons, connecting you not just to nature, but to time itself.

Miles of ancient drove roads and quiet country lanes make exploring Wiltshire a pleasure, whatever the time of year. With on- and off-road routes of varying length for cyclists to discover, an outstanding array of walks from gentle strolls to long-distance paths, and numerous opportunities to enjoy the scenery from horseback, our countryside might well have been invented with outdoor pursuits in mind. Our 2017 range of walking and cycling events are a great way to experience it for yourself - for details go to visitwiltshire.co.uk/whats-on
